Subject: Dr. Stephen Sroka – Letter of Recommendation

As conference chairman for the 2002 Pennsylvania Student Assistance Program Conference, I was searching for a person to be the keynote speaker. However, I couldn't get just anyone. Our conference theme, "March Madness-Helping All Kids Become Champions", needed someone to be dynamic and motivating, someone to have a little "madness" about themselves to set the tone for the conference. Well, I found just the person in Dr. Stephen Sroka. After speaking with him on the phone and then reviewing his program description and promotional information, I knew I had the right person. I was not disappointed, nor were the 500 people who attended our conference.

Dr. Sroka's presentations are lively, but informative, entertaining, but instructive. When it comes to dealing with teenage at-risk behaviors, Dr. Sroka know his "stuff" and presents it in a manner that will captivate your audience. I've never seen anyone work an audience quite like Dr. Sroka. He is a master presenter.

You could not do better than Dr. Sroka for a conference presenter. He is truly one of a kind. You and your conference will be better for having him.

Sincerely,
